

Price of Low-Temperature Resistant Fiber Optic Distribution Box for Intelligent Buildings in Portugal

Article Overview

Low-temperature resistant fiber optic distribution boxes for intelligent buildings typically range from €50 to €400 per unit, depending on capacity, material, and environmental protection.

Overview

Fiber optic distribution boxes (FDBs) are essential for managing and protecting optical fibers in intelligent building networks, including FTTH, FTTB, and internal building cabling . For low-temperature environments, these boxes are usually made from high-impact ABS+PC plastics or powder-coated steel, offering durability, UV resistance, and IP65 or higher ingress protection . Outdoor models are designed to withstand temperature extremes, moisture, and physical impact, making them suitable for both external and indoor installations .

Price Factors

The cost of a fiber optic distribution box depends on several factors:

- Fiber Core Capacity: Boxes range from 8 to 96 cores; higher capacity units cost more .
- Material and Durability: ABS+PC or steel enclosures with UV and low-temperature...
